General overview of the module

In the last decades, commercial practices have undergone significant changes due to the gradual increase of the complexity in the markets. Specifically, this complexity has favored, in the context of commercialization, the development of the strategic aspect of marketing, which has as one of its fundamental functions the analysis and understanding of consumers. As a consequence, the literature has generated a high volume of both theoretical and empirical research focused on the consumer behavior and its needs.

From this subject, students are expected to obtain the necessary knowledge about the behavior and needs of consumers, being able to know and identify the factors that affect their development, understand their meaning, their consequences and, ultimately, the operation of the processes of decision and consumption.

The evaluation of the students will be carried out through continuous assessment and exam:

1. Continuous assessment:
   In this part, it will be valued the realization of several academic assignments, where it will be evaluated both theoretical and practical contents similar to those presented in class.
   Continuous assessment in no case will eliminate contents from the exam. In addition, it could be assessed individually or in groups and will have a weighting in the final mark of 40%.

2. Exam:
   This part will be formed by open-answer questions and multiple-choice questions following the weight indicated in the prior table. Moreover, it could combine both theoretical and practical contents, but also contents from all activities carried out during the course such as readings, visits to companies, conferences, etc.
   This part will be assessed individually and will have a weight in the final grade of 60%.

The continuous assessment is in-person and not recoverable, therefore:
- Class attendance is mandatory (for an optimal follow-up of the subject), reason why the absence to more than 15% of the sessions will mean that the student will not qualify the part of the continuous assessment. Consequently, the maximum mark that could be reached by the student will be the one obtained in the exam (with the aforementioned weighting of 60%).
- The grade obtained during the continuous assessment of the subject will be maintained, both in the 1st call and in the 2nd call. On the contrary, the grade of the exam will be recoverable at the end of the semester (in the 2nd call).

In order to pass the subject, an average of 5 (or more) must be obtained by the student in the exam. The final mark of the subject will be obtained by weighting the average of the exam (60%) with the continuous assessment (40%), having to obtain a final grade of 5 (or more) to surpass the subject.

The student who enrolls for the second time in the subject and does not progress to the next academic course:
- Will be in the same conditions as the student who enrolls for the first time; being applicable, in consequence, the evaluation criteria previously established.
The student who enrolls for the second time in the subject and progresses to the next academic course:

- In order to pass the subject, an average of 5 (or more) must be obtained by the student in the exam. The final mark of the subject will be obtained by weighting the average of the exam (80%) with the continuous assessment (20%), having to obtain a final grade of 5 (or more) to surpass the subject.
- Its continuous assessment will be evaluated through the development of a comprehensive academic assignment of the subject based on a real case study. To do so, the student will receive specific instructions from the professor.

All students must comply with the rules of writing, spelling and grammar in the development of their work and their assessment tests. These formal aspects will be taken into account in the evaluation of them.
